

Law Enforcement Response to Human Trafficking

TUITION FREE

November 7, 2016

8am – 5pm

Coeur D’Alene

Presented by:
Boise Police Detectives:
Mike Miraglia and Tim
Brady

Detective Mike Miraglia has been an Idaho law enforcement officer for over 17 years serving as a member of the FBI Joint Terrorism Task Force, Gang Detective specializing in gang-related human trafficking – and currently as a Detective with the Boise Police Violent Crimes Unit. In partnership with local and federal agencies, Mike has successfully investigated several local and national sex trafficking organizations.

Detective Tim Brady has been an Idaho law enforcement officer for over 14 years. He currently serves as Detective with the Boise Police Crimes Against Persons Unit with special assignment to investigate Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC). Tim’s current case load consists of child exploitation cases in which he has either assisted with or has been lead investigator in cases of human and sex trafficking of children.

In June 2015, Detectives Miraglia and Brady received the American Red Cross of Greater Idaho Heroes Award for their “extraordinary and ongoing work saving the lives of those entrapped by human trafficking.” Congratulations Mike and Tim.

Federal law defines human trafficking as “modern slavery.” Traffickers use force, threats, fraud and coercion to lure victims of all ages into labor and/or commercial sexual exploitation. Due to the covert nature of human trafficking, first responders might encounter victims when responding to incidents such as traffic stops, domestic issues, labor disputes and prostitution. This training course will provide Idaho officers the tools and knowledge needed to recognize elements of human trafficking, identify and protect victims, and arrest the perpetrators.

Students will learn...

- The definition of human trafficking
- To recognize the signs of human trafficking
- Victim dynamics and obstacles to successful investigations
- Pimp sub-culture and coercion tactics
- To appropriately respond to human trafficking in the field
- To identify and preserve evidence related to human trafficking
- And more...
